Four drunks were yesterday fined in police court.

Nightly meetings at the Y. M. C. A rooms this week. Judge Loofbourow was banqueted by the Carroll county bar last evening. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Jackson entertained the married ladies' progressive euchre club this evening. The paper mill is now running full blast. The enterprise promises to be a great success every way.

Council Bluffs Lodge No. 3, Daughters of Rebekah, I. O. O. F., 1s to give a grand select ball Thanksgiving evening in Temple hall. W H. Monteith has commenced suit against the city for $1,000 on account of damages to his property by reason of the new sewer ditch. L. Finley, of Ottumwa, Ia., and Miss N. A. Finley, of the same place, were yesterday united in marriage by Justice N. Senurz at his office. The ceremony did not, for once, deprive the bride of her maiden name.

Now comes the event of the season, the Christmas Market in December, by the Woman's Exchange. Christmas gifts for friends will be offered for sale. A series of entertainments, good music, etc., will lend its attractions.

A Scotchman applied yesterday to the county cierk for a marriage permit. In the conversation attending the transac-tion it was revealed that the applicant's father used to own a mine in which the clerk's father worked years ago.

It is stated on good authority that a for-mer Council Bluffs clerk, now of North Platte, is to be united in marriage on Thanksgiving afternoon at 4 o'clock, to a young lady residing on Madison street, the daughter of a Broadway grocer.

The Gerstenberg's are not content with having a notoriety in one city at a time, but are trying to monopolize Omaha and Council Bluffs at once. Fred is in limbo in Omaha on a charge of larceny, and his wife is locked up on this side for general cussedness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Warren desire to return their most sincere thanks to their many friends for the beautiful gift presented to them on Monday eve and to assure them that the same is most cordially appreciated as a token of their esteem and friendship. A. Farrott is now eaged for fifteen days. He has been making a great deal of trouble for his family, and has driven them out of the house by his drunken threats to cut their throats. It is to be hoped that the term in the county jail may so sicken him of the city that he may at its expiration conclude to leave it.

Mr. Smith, the recorder of Crawford county, has bought the McMahon abstract books, and will soon come to this city and assume charge of the office. He is said to be an expert in this line of business and a gentleman who in every way will be a great addition to the business and social circles of the city.

One citizen stepped into the city clerk's office yesterday and as he opened his wal-let said he wanted to pay his dog tax. Such is the name that he gave to the license under the "pop" ordinance. The significance of the title is not real clear, but it is probably so called because there is so much barking attending its pay-

The evening prohibition sheet has at last got assistmed of its declaration that the correspondent sent a "fair statement of the facts' to the Des Moines Register when be declared "Council Bluffs to be a paradise for thieves and thugs." It is high time that it was shamed into silence. It evidently has discovered that Council Bluffs will not stand by a paper which endorses an insult to the city as it did.

There was a successful dress rehearsal of the District school last evening, and everything indicates that the entertainment to be given at the opera house Fri-day evening will be one of the most successful home entertainments ever given here. The sale of tickets has been phenomenal, nearly all the seats being already taken in the parquette, and some in the dress circle. Those who want the choice of seats should step into Bushnell's atonce

The third annual masquerade ball of the Council Bluff's paid fire department i to be given in Temple hall next Tuesday evening. The boys are meeting with good success in the sale of tickets, and they ought to. The affair itself will be enjoyable to all participants, and the cause is a worthy one. The firemen are not overpaid, and the services rendered by them entitle them to a rousing benefit at least once a year.

One of the boot and shoe houses night before last, after the business of the day was over, sought to save the expense of advertising in a newspaper, and selzing a paint brush the proprietor decorated the sidewalks with pictures of foot-prints leading to his store, with appropriate legends about the bar-gains to be found there. He got his work done just in time for the snow storm, which covered up the paintings and spoiled the advertising scheme. The merchant was discouraged, but he ought to learn the lesson that the newspapers are the only sure advertising mediums, going before the people, rain or shine, and carrying the news of bargains into the homes of all, even when snow storms

The salvation army is fast gaining ground here, and the interest in the meetings is increasing as shown by the attendance. The squad of workers here are less noisy and the meetings more orderly than in many places, and still they are sufficiently novel to altract many to the hall every night. The women are hard workers and economical, and are evidently sacrificing much for their peculiar ideas. They live in the hall, to save expense, and board themselves in the most meagre way. They do their janitor work, and every morning can be seen sweeping out, carrying water, and doing other necessary work about the place. Then there is considerable street work to be done, selling papers, and talking to sinuers, and the meeting as conducted by them must be as hard work as any. How much of the proceeds of their sacrifice and labor has to go to the headquarters is not known, but it is generally understood that a goodly per cent of their meagre receipts has to be thus given to those who fill higher and easier places. Whatever may be thought of the good judgment of the women thus working here, they certainly are sacrificing much and enduring much.

Smashing a Freight.

Yesterday afternoon it was rumored on the streets that a fearful accident had happened at Henton's station on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, and that several passengers who were on the outgoing "Q" passenger train had been killed in the accident, and that three passenger coaches had been burned up. ERumors spread swiftly on the street and were not delayed by the snow blockade which delayed everything else.

Those connected with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road were very ret-

Burington & Quincy road were very reticent and appeared to know nothing of the truth or falsity of the rumors affoat, but the facts elicited from persons who were acquainted with the details of the accident are as below:

On account of the late arrival of the Union Pacific train yesterday morning, all the eastern lines held their trains at the transfer for the Union Pacific. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy train did not leave until 1 o'clock p. m., as did all not leave until 1 o'clock p. m., as did all the other lines, and when the "Q" pas-senger train known as No. 4 reached Hentons, fifteen miles below Council Bluffs, it crashed into the rear end of freight train No. 29, which had left Coun-cil Bluffs only tifteen minutes ahead of the passenger.

The passenger train was in charge of Conductor W. J. Jamison and Engineer Mike Burke, both of Creston, the eastern terminus of this division of the road. The snow was falling fast and somewhat hindered the view, but when Burke saw the freight train, he reversed his engine and applied the air brakes but it was too late. He saw a col-lision was a dead certainty and with his fireman jumped from the engine, saving their lives' as the engine was ditched and the caboose attached to the rear end of the freight train and the last two freight cars were telescoped and took fire with their contents.

Luckily no one was seriously injured. The wreck caused a blockade and delayed trains last night.

IT WAS SNOW USE

To Go on With the Banquet for the Newspaper Men.

The Southwestern Press association met in accordance with announcement, in the parlors of the Ogden house, yesterday. The attendance was not large, on account of the storm and the belated trains. Among those present were:

C. W. Snyder, Red Oak Express; C. A Lisle, Clarinda Herald; L. Young, Atlantic Telegraph; W. M. Ashton, Guthric Center; S. H. Olmstead, Missouri Valley News; Robert Simons, Sidney Union; F. C. Clark, Red Oak Sun; P. B. Clark, Tabor Beacon; W. H. Gardner, Avoca Delta; A. G. Lucas, Bedford Republican.

The meagre attendance caused a post-ponement of the programme arranged ponement of the programme arranged until the annual meeting, which will probably take place in June next, at this place. The arrangemento for the ban-quet were also postponed until the next meeting. It is to be regretted that the weather so seriously interfered with the meeting, but by the time they gather here again Council Bluffs will be in the midst of its great boom, and the scribes will be given an opportunity to see the city under more favorable circumstances than they could possibly do yesterday.

The beautiful commenced coming down about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and kept busy at it all day. The snow was heavy and wet, and packed snugly. By noon time there was fully eight inches on the level, and where the wind caught it right it blocked badly. The trains were late in arriving and departing. The street cars found it difficult to plod along, and were almost abandoned in the afternoon. There was but a feeble attempt made to keep even the main sidewalks cleared, and this attempt was not successful, as the snow fell so rapidly and con-

There was a great increase of activity among those dealing in winter clothing and cold weather supplies. Yesterday was a specially active day in the arctic trade. Overshoes were in great demand, and dealers could hardly hand them out fast enough. There was also a showing that few in proportion had became prepared with suitable hand coverings. Two enterprising young men made a novel bet con-cerning this, one wagering a dollar that three-fourths of the men and boys who passed a certain store would have their ands in their pockets. The young man who did the tallying stood inside the store door checking them off as they went by. A large proportion, a majority in fact, of those who passed along the street had their bands in their pockets, but it was not reaching quite up o the 75 per cent. The young man, fear ful of losing his big dollar, proceeded to drum up a crowd for his side of the bet. He stationed himself a few doors away, hailed his friends as they drew near, and prevailed on them to put their hands in side, so as to help him out. He was still falling short, and so he hired the district telegraph boys to march backwards and forwards with their hands in their pockets, thus swelling his side of the count. He got the necessar, number within the allotted time, but the other one protested, and will contest the elec-

Yesterday afternoon the chimney of Mrs. M. E. Amy's residence, on Sixth street, opposite St. Paul's church, caught fire, and was certainly as narrow an escape from a disastrous fire as often occurs. The bucket brigade had to work hard and long with salt and water to make any impression on the burning soot, and the heat was so intense that some of the wood work of the house was
